Dear Senator Blumenthal,

National Whistleblower Center would like to commend you for introducing important legislation geared toward increasing protections for whistleblowers. The Congressional Whistleblower Protection Act will help many federal employee whistleblowers seek federal legal protections, leading to a more transparent and accountable government.

Here, at the National Whistleblower Center we strive to empower people around the country to blow the whistle and help fight against corruption. We advocate for stronger whistleblower policies and laws, assist whistleblowers in finding legal aid, and educate the public on the crucial role whistleblowers play in maintaining a safe and fair nation.

As we approach National Whistleblower Day, the introduction of the Congressional Whistleblower Protection Act is an encouraging sign of you and your colleagues' continued commitment to improving whistleblower protections.

Thank you once again for your continued efforts to protect whistleblowers. With the support of government officials, we are one step closer to building a nation free from corruption.

Sincerely,
